

Colour in this picture and then if you want to, you can pin it up somewhere so that every day it will remind you and everyone else that you are Unique and Precious just as you are.... This means that you can just be yourself without trying to copy anyone else....because no other person is more or less important than youbeing unique and precious is something to feel good about, this means you will never find anyone else more important you..... If you were missing it would be the same as a colour missing colour missing from a rainbowgood rainbows need every colour.

I am one of many Seeds for Children's Self Esteem ...print more at; www.goodwillpeople.net