

You have just been made the King or Queen of the Whole World for one day - What would you Do ?

-----

-----

-----

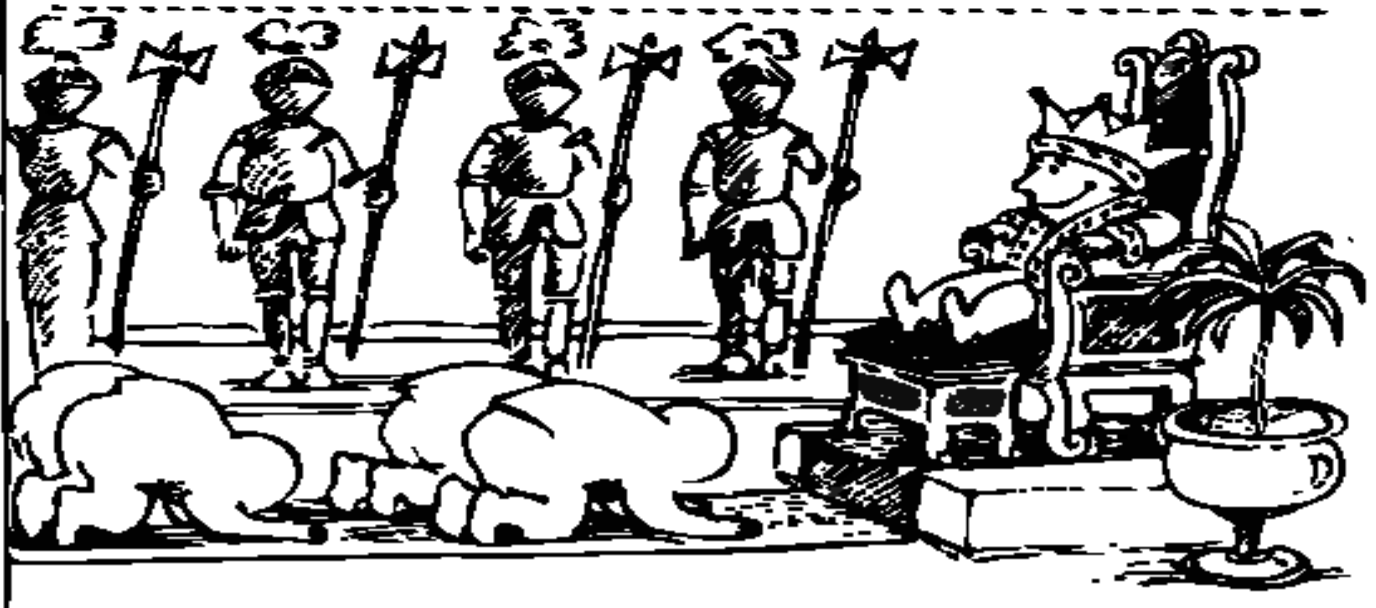

-----

-----

-----

-----

-----

You have just been made the King or Queen of the whole world for one day. You are a good and kindly ruler with compassion for all. You can make any new laws, you can make any changes to old laws, and rule to have whatever you decide on to be done by your loyal subjects, who honour and respect and love you. Think about all the consequences from any changes you could make with your position of power and think of the actual end results that will come from your decisions as the King or Queen of the whole world. Now decide or select what you would decree as your considered rulings to make a better world and write these above. Now if in the future you are wondering what to do with your life, these values will be like pointers for your fulfilment.